

Experiences with Boost4Health

Many companies have benefited from the Boost4Health program in recent years. They have experienced that the program was really useful to stimulate their internationalization strategy and business development process. They testify in their own words:

Oliver Balcells
CEO & Co-Founder, RheoDx

"The Boost4Health program helped us mainly in two things. Firstly, to make a deep analysis of all the potential intended uses RheoDX can face towards, including the quantification of the market size, main competitors and positioning for each of them. Secondly, it helped us to build a clear regulatory roadmap to understand all the regulatory constraints and timelines. Both points made us go a step further and helped driving the company."

Matthias Roller
Rollerwerk-medical engineering & consulting

"I was pleased to have the opportunity to attend the Masterclass event in Manchester through the Boost4Health project. This event was a very good opportunity to get a deeper insight into the National Health Service (NHS). There was a review of research and collaboration projects that have been undertaken between the NHS and the health industry and how to access these projects. Besides the interesting workshops there was still a lot of time for networking. It was a successful event, with added value"

Gleb Solomentsev
Founder, Owner ASPERIS

"The Boost4Health platform provided a great means to expand the ASPERIS customer base in Europe. I carried out four cross border projects on behalf of four European SME clients to support their growth and expansion into the EU. Simultaneously, I was able to use small grants to grow the ASPERIS network abroad. The various initiatives all worked to support ASPERIS at a critical stage of the company and have proven to be tremendously valuable. "
